LIFE AFTER SCHOOL

Joining clubs and doing extracurricular activities are great ways to develop your hobbies and find friends who share the same interests with you. What do you do to combine fun with learning?

ADELINE, 11, France

I am crazy about drawing! However, I like comics, not traditional paintings. That's why I'm in the Comics Club at my school, not the Art Club. My partners Sophie and Lucas write the best stories ever, and I draw the best pictures to them!

EDDY, 12, USA

I love music very much. I sang in the school choir last year, but this year I want to join the school band. They play rock and roll, and it's my favourite type of music! I took drum lessons during summer, and I'm really good at it now, so I definitely have a chance to fit in!

1 Read the blogs and correct the statements below.

- | | |

- 3 Mary ... shells and goes to our Nature Club.
- 4 It's easy to ... if you share the same hobbies.
- 5 Jackson is the new ... of our school blog.

MARCO, 13, Italy

I'm one of the school's journalists. We have meetings every Monday where we decide what weekly project we are going to do. I take pictures, my friends Paula and Leonardo collect information and then we write a story for our school blog. By the way, our English teacher is our editor and he's great!

YAN, 13, China

My passion is science, and I've been in our school Science Club for 3 years now! We meet three times a week after lessons, we analyse and we learn various theories. However, my favourite part is when we do different experiments to test everything in the school lab!

- 6 I like to ... my two hobbies: singing and dancing.
- 7 One of Sam's ... activities is playing table games.
- 8 My ... is chemistry, so I spend hours in our lab!

3 Read the blogs again and say what everyone does in his/her club.

SPECIAL DAYS AT SCHOOL

Except for such well-known holidays as Christmas, New Year or Independence Day, there are also those days which are dedicated to school.

First, Knowledge Day

on 1st September when a new school year starts. The headteacher, all the teachers and students gather around in the school hall or outside. The headteacher welcomes everyone and usually makes a speech.

Second, Teachers' Day – an international holiday which underlines the importance of teachers and their hard work in the world. Many students give flowers to their teachers on that day.

• Third, Graduation Day – the day when a school year ends, usually in June. Most students are happy because it means that summer holidays begin and they are free from their studies for a while. On the other hand, there are graduates for whom this school year is the last one. They can feel a bit sad because they may never see their classmates and teachers again.

Finally, School's Anniversary – the date when your school was founded. Some students call it 'My School's Birthday'. • The headteacher often makes a speech. There may be a presentation on the school's history or even a big festival.

There are many other holidays that students and their teachers may have. The ways of celebrating these days often vary from country to country, from one school to another because all of them have their own traditions. However, the special spirit of celebration is what they all have in common.

In Great Britain, people usually work five days a week. Many of them also work at home at the weekend. They do the chores and gardening. They also do repairs¹ and make improvements² to their houses. Every morning my mother cooks breakfast. She fries some eggs in a frying pan. My sister sometimes boils sausages in a small pot. When the eggs are ready, Mum serves them to us with nicely decorated salad and boiled sausages. While my mother is doing that, my sister is cutting some bread and taking out a teapot, cups and plates.

When the water in the kettle boils, my sister puts some tea into the teapot, pours some boiling water into the pot and the tea is ready.

Sometimes my mum prefers coffee to tea. Then my father prepares it. He is good at making coffee. I never drink coffee. I prefer tea. My sister sometimes drinks coffee with milk or cream. After breakfast I go to my school and my father goes to his office. My sister puts the dishes into the dishwasher to clean and dry them. My mum cleans the table and takes off the tablecloth.

My sister puts clean cups and dishes onto the cupboard and goes to her work.

And what about Mum? She stays at home and does lots of things around the house. There is always something to do, work around the house is never done...

When Mummy Is Away

I'd like to tell you all about
 A very stormy day,
 When Daddy stayed at home with me
 While Mummy went away.
 He made the beds and swept the floor,
 And did the washing-up.
 (And do you know, he broke a plate,
 Two saucers and a cup.)
 Then, when he bathed me, after tea,
 He taught me how to swim.
 (And there were puddles on the floor,
 And drips all over him!)
 Then Mummy came home just in time
 To see me getting down.
 "Next time I'll stay at home," she said,
 "While Daddy goes to town."

YOUR TABLE MANNERS SHOW

Politeness is the key to getting respect from others, improving your communication skills and becoming more sure of yourself. Many people expect you to have good manners in different places and situations, including at the table.

Proper eating includes the kind of food you have, the way of cooking it, the manner of serving it and the way of eating it.

In old times, people usually used their hands to eat everything until they invented kitchen items – forks, knives, spoons, plates, bowls, glasses, cups and so on. The way of cooking and serving meals has also become different. Today, we not only have a big table but also do not build a fire to make food. Instead, there are many items of technology that help us with it – a cooker, a fridge, a blender, a toaster, etc.

WHO YOU ARE

Q I SEARCH

Table manners vary from one country to another. For example, in Europe people use forks and knives, while in Asia chopsticks are the main device. There is a world standard to eat at the table. However, there are some countries, like India or Bangladesh, where people have a tradition to eat sitting on the floor. Even among families there can be differences in table manners. Some still eat food with their hands or use only a fork and no knife. Others always wash their hands before a meal, use all the kitchen utensils and even put a napkin on their knees or necks.

All in all, our world is different in many ways, even when it comes to eating and serving food. The way you behave at the table can show everyone what kind of person you are. What we all have in common is the wish to be respected. That is why it is always important to consider where and with whom you are having your meal.

- 3 Cooking food is the same today as it was in the past.
- 4 Asians do not usually use forks and knives while eating.
- 5 Forks and knives are the devices used in Europe.
- 6 In all countries people have meals sitting at the table.

VANESSA, 13, Portugal

Interesting article. I never thought my table manners could show my personality to others.

WILLIAM, 13, Wales

Such true words! But I must say, it sometimes drives me crazy when my mum makes me use a knife when I eat meat or fish.

CARLOS, 12, Brazil

I don't think that eating with your hands is bad as long as they are clean. I mean, why do I need a fork and a knife to eat an apple? It's not like I'm having a fancy¹ dinner.

TEJ, 12, India

Like it says in the article, different nations eat differently. That's why I don't understand why some people look so surprised when I eat my lunch sitting on the floor.

FOOD ARTIST

I wasn't much of an eater when I was a child. That used to drive my mum crazy. 'Don't play with food!' were the words I heard so many times. But that was the only thing I liked about lunch. While sitting at the table and looking at the plate in front of me (not wanting to eat), I imagined that the pieces of broccoli were a forest and the beans were the ground. The forest was nice to look at, but the broccoli was not nice to eat. Mum looked at me happily every time I took a fork. However, I almost never used it to put food into my mouth. I used it as a brush to do a painting from mashed potatoes. I loved art at school and I thought that food was the most perfect material for it.

Years later, I became a food artist. You must be wondering what that means. Well, a plate is a canvas for me. I still sometimes play with food instead of eating it, but now I do it professionally. People hire me to decorate their tables. I carve pumpkins, watermelons and other fruit and vegetables. I make sculptures using rice and chocolate, pasta, sweets, biscuits and other kinds of food. You can't even imagine what a food artist can do with an orange!

Some people think I create food art for the rich only. But that is not true. I enjoy preparing food for my friends, too. I make dinner for my family every day and they love it. First, they take photos of the food and then they eat it. I use those photos to promote my work.

b) Read the text and finish the sentences (1-8).

THE MOST POPULAR SWEET IN THE WORLD

Many people love chocolate but not everyone knows a lot about it. When you hear 'chocolate', the words 'eat' and 'sweet' come first to mind. However, in the past, chocolate was a drink that had a bitter taste. Christopher Columbus was the one who brought the cocoa beans from Central America to the Spanish king and queen, but it was actually Hernan Cortes who made the drink popular in Europe in the 16th century.

Not everyone likes an original bitter taste of chocolate, so now they add milk and sugar to it. They have also learnt how to make snacks out of it – chocolate bars, sweets and so on.

Today chocolate is a very popular drink as well as the food that many people love. Plus, it is used as an ingredient added to many other dishes such as pancakes, pies, biscuits, ice cream, etc. There are even people who are called 'chocoholics' because they cannot imagine their lives without chocolate.

Our world differs in culture. Various cultures often help define who we are and where we belong. Tradition is linked to culture. Tradition relates to a specific activity, event or behaviour that has been repeated over and over again from generation to generation. Culture can include things such as traditional clothing, music, dance, ceremonies and culinary traditions. Many cultures around the world have traditions that relate to celebrating.

KATHY, 12, England

Morris dance is a very old traditional English folk dance. It is also performed in other English-speaking countries such as the USA and Australia. In this dance men dress up in costumes with hats and ribbons and bells around their legs. They dance through the streets.

ROSIE, 12, Wales

Hot-cross buns are small, lightly sweet buns that contain raisins and sometimes chopped candied fruit. They are eaten throughout the Easter season. There is a cross filled with sugar icing on the top of the bun.

YANINA, 13, Poland

In my country spiders or spider webs are common Christmas tree decorations. According to legend, a spider wove a blanket for Baby Jesus. In fact, Polish people consider spiders to be symbols of goodness and prosperity at Christmas.

In Australia people enjoy a hot summer Christmas rather than the cold European and North American white Christmas. Instead of sitting inside by the fire, we usually go to the beach for a big Christmas celebration, and Santa typically arrives by boat instead of a sleigh.

MUSTAFA, 12, Syria

In Syria, children receive presents from one of the Wise Men's camels. It was the youngest and smallest one in the Wise Men's caravan and it fell down tired at the end of the long journey to Bethlehem.

Bolivians celebrate Misa del Gallo ('Mass of the Cock') on Christmas Eve, with people bringing cocks to midnight mass to symbolise the belief that a cock was the first animal to announce the birth of Jesus Christ.

NEW YEAR AROUND THE WORLD

Even though different cultures celebrate the ending of a year and the beginning of another one in different ways, celebrations are almost always tied to tradition and hope of having better luck, more money, more love or more happiness in the coming year.

In China, many people paint their front door red as it is a lucky colour. They also hide their knives so that nobody cuts themselves as it would mean bad luck for the whole family in the coming year. Chinese New Year is usually between 21 January and 19 February.

In Scotland, there is a tradition of 'first-footing'. According to it, you will have good luck all year round if the first visitor to your house on 1 January is a tall, dark-haired man with a piece of coal.

In Denmark, people smash plates down on their neighbours' doorstep. The more broken plates at your door, the better your luck for the coming year. They also stand on chairs and Hello!

Easter is a great Christian holiday. It is in spring. Its symbols include the Easter bunny and Easter eggs. I usually spend Easter with my family. We always have Easter breakfast together. We have bread, ham, eggs and cheese. The day before Easter my brother, father and I paint and decorate the eggs. We go to church, watch some cartoons and eat chocolate eggs. In the afternoon, we go for a walk. Sometimes our grandma visits us. I always send Easter cards to my aunt. I love Easter because it is usually sunny and there is no school. What does Easter look like in Ukraine? How do you spend this holiday?

Lent is the period of forty days before Easter.

It's a time to give up something, for example, to stop eating sweets. Then at Easter, children in Britain eat lots of sweet things, especially chocolate eggs! Lent begins on Wednesday, and many people eat something special the day before called Shrove Tuesday.

In Britain the day before Lent is also called Pancake Day. On that day they eat pancakes.

Pancakes are made of eggs, flour and milk.

5 a) Read and say when Mother's and Father's Days are celebrated in English-speaking countries.

For Someone I Love

Even though you can show how much you love your mother on any day, a special day is set aside to honour mothers.

In the United States, Canada and Australia, Mother's Day is the second Sunday of May. This special day was first observed in the United States in 1908 through the efforts of Anna Jarvis.

On Mother's Day, some mothers get cards and gifts that their children have made for them. Other mothers might get sweets or flowers. Many women wear carnations¹ on Mother's Day. If a woman wears coloured carnations, it means her mother is living. If she wears white carnations, it means that her mother has died.

People in England celebrate a special day called Mothering Sunday. It comes about three weeks before Easter. On that day, sons and daughters living away come home with flowers and special cakes or sweets for their mothers. Some children give their mothers flowers that are blessed in church on Mothering Sunday.

What about fathers? Do they have a special day, too? Of course, they do.

Fathers get cards and gifts their children have made for them as well as ties and other gifts. Father's

Day is celebrated in June in the United States, Canada and England and in September in Australia.

OLYMPIC GAMES

The Olympic Games are a modern international sports event. The best athletes from all over the world compete in different kinds of sports. The games started in ancient Greece, but now they take place in different countries every four years. All athletes are proud to represent their countries. The motto of the Olympic Games is 'Faster, Higher, Stronger – Together'.

- The flag is one of the symbols of the Olympics. It has a white background with five interlocking rings: blue, yellow, black, green and red. Why these six colours? Because they appear on all the national flags of the world. The five rings represent the five continents: the Americas, Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceania.
- The best athletes in each sporting event get medals: gold for the first, silver for the second and bronze for the third place. However, the most important thing is not to win, but to take part.

- During 2-3 summer weeks, athletes compete in more than 30 sports disciplines: gymnastics, athletics, rowing, badminton, wrestling and many others. The modern Summer Olympic Games started in 1896.
- Figure skating, ice hockey, skiing and snowboarding are some of the ice and snow kinds of sports that you can see during the games. There aren't as many sports as in the Summer Olympics, but they are also interesting. The first Winter Olympic Games were organised in France in 1924.
- The Paralympic Games are the games for athletes with disabilities. They are held every four years in the same year as the Olympic Games. They are parallel to the Olympics and that is where their name comes from. Thousands of athletes from many countries compete in events such as wheelchair basketball, para cycling, para swimming, para athletics, wheelchair tennis and many others.

Taking part in the Olympic Games not only includes competition to show that you are the best. These games also bring people from different countries together to communicate and have fun.

Hi John,

I remember the time when I was out of school for a month. One Thursday I fell off my bike and broke it into pieces. And I broke my leg, too. I stayed at hospital for three days. Then the ambulance brought me home. But I couldn't play football or go out with my friends. I was really bored at that time. I didn't see my schoolmates till the holidays. Mum bought me some books, but I read them quickly. I had done 150 word puzzles and had seen 35 films before I recovered and came back to normal life. So, my advice to everybody: be careful when you ride your bike or do any other things. It's not so good to be out of school for weeks!

WHEN I WAS SIX YEARS OLD

When I was 6 years old, I got flu. It happens to lots of kids and then they are OK, but it wasn't OK with me. I had a serious illness called encephalitis¹. I had been staying at home and feeling ill for a long time. Then a serious problem started with me.

I always found school difficult, and my teachers explained me the same thing many times. I often left school things at home. The kids in my class teased me and said I was stupid, and my teachers thought I was lazy.

But my parents didn't take me to another school. So, I continued to go to the same school. Every month I stayed a week in a hospital. Doctors taught me to do special exercises to help my memory.

My memory had been returning step by step. I am 30 now and I am back to normal. And I sometimes ask myself: Were my parents right that they hadn't taken me to another school?

THEATRES TODAY

A theatre is a place where people find themselves in another world. It has a long history, since theatres come from ancient Greece. However, what about theatres today? Do people still go there? Definitely!

There is the National Opera and Ballet Theatre in Kyiv named after Taras Shevchenko. It is the biggest opera house in Ukraine built in 1867. Different operas, ballets and even concerts are performed there. Its wonderful design includes a large stage, wide staircases, long corridors, huge balconies, beautiful paintings and sculptures. You can watch classical as well as modern shows there. In 2019, this theatre staged 26 operas and 41 ballets written by different Ukrainian and foreign authors.

The Royal Opera House is another great theatre located in Covent Garden, central London. After its renewal in 1990 it became much bigger and now more than 2000 people can sit there! There are four opera boxes, four long balconies and a screen with subtitles over the stage. Such classical plays as Hamlet by Shakespeare or Pygmalion by Shaw are shown there. On the other hand, there are also modern dance shows like Message in a Bottle based on the songs of Sting.

A very interesting place to go is the Grand Theatre in the city of Shanghai, China. The building itself is not very old as it was opened in 1998. Its design is quite modern and unusual at the same time. There are lights all over it and in the evening the theatre looks like a crystal palace. Inside there is enough space for 1800 people, three stages and even a banquet hall. More than 6000 operas, musicals and ballets have been performed there already. They have been of different types as well – from tragedies to funny comedies.

All in all, if you are interested in watching a story live and not on screen then going to the theatre is the perfect choice!

A SHORT FILM REVIEW

- 1 Read the review of the film The Matrix from Tim Jacobs and answer the questions below.

The Matrix is a science fiction film directed by Andy and Larry Wachowski. The main characters are played by Keanu Reeves, Laurence Fishburne, Carrie-Anne Moss and Joe Pantoliano.

The film is about a man, Thomas Anderson (Neo), who lives two lives. By day he is a computer programmer and by night he is a hacker. One day he meets Morpheus who tells him that a race of machines really rules the world.

The film is fantastic and very thrilling. I extremely love it because there are a lot of surprises and exciting events. The actors are really good, especially Laurence Fishburne. He is brilliant in the role of Morpheus. The special effects are amazing and the soundtrack is awesome.

The term 'Great Britain' is often confused with the term the 'United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland' (the UK for short). Great Britain usually refers to a large island divided into England, Scotland and Wales, whereas the UK is the official name of the country.

INTERESTING...

The main symbols that come to our mind when we hear the words 'Great Britain' or 'London' (the capital city of the UK and England) are the River Thames, Big Ben, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament, Buckingham Palace, the Royal Family, high tea (drinking tea in the late afternoon), bobbies (nicknames for police officers), double-deckers and red telephone boxes. However, these places and things describe England, and the UK is so much more than that.

● to be famous for

- 1 Check the meanings of the words from the Words for You box in the Vocabulary List.
- 2 a) Have a discussion in groups of 3-4. Think of how much you know about the United Kingdom.
 - How many countries are there?
 - What are their capitals?
 - What languages do they speak?
 - What famous places are there?
- b) Listen to the podcasts and check your answers.

Let's not forget that the UK includes more than one country. Besides England in the south, there is Scotland in the north – a proud country where people speak mostly English and Scots. (By the way, Scottish people really hate it when foreigners mix them up with the English.) Its capital is Edinburgh, but the largest city is Glasgow. The main places of interest in Edinburgh are the Scottish Parliament, the Scott Monument, the Royal Botanic Garden, Calton Hill and Arthur's Seat.

3 Read the text (pp. 140-142), then say if the statements below are true or false.

- 1 Great Britain is often confused with the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.
- 2 Most of the things and places connected with the UK are actually about England.
- 3 Scottish people never mind when others call them English.

Northern Ireland is another part of the UK situated in the north-east of Ireland. Its main languages are English and Irish. This country is famous for its beautiful nature, the world's best golf courses, the Game of Thrones territories and, of course, its capital – city Belfast. The best places to see and visit in Northern Ireland include Dunluce and Belfast Castles, the Dark Hedges, the Giant's Causeway, Titanic Belfast, Belfast City Hall, the Ulster Folk Museum and the Peace Bridge.

Wales is a country located on the west side of Great Britain. People there speak Welsh and English. Friendly behaviour, wet weather, rugged coastline, the biggest number of castles and many mountain parks – these are the things that best describe Wales. For a long time, Wales had no capital city, but in 1955 the city of Cardiff was chosen for this role. Besides Cardiff Castle, other famous Welsh places include: Llandaff Cathedral, the Millennium, Castell Coch, Cardiff Bay, the Senedd, Forest Farm Country Park and many others.
